GENERAL WOOD'S REPORT

His Annual Statement of Military Affairs in Cuba.

No Specific Recommendations Made as to the Various Posts-Coast Ar-(fllery Practice Discussed-Course of Instruction in Art of Packing.

The annual report of Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the Department of Cuba, was made public this morning by the Adjutant General. Generspected by me during the year and I have no specific recommendations to make regarding any particular place visited; at all of them I have found the officers to their efforts to improve the efficiency of their commands, which latter has been particularly difficult, on account of the scarcity of officers in this department." Americans Good Shots.

Considerable attention is paid to coast artillery target practice. Continuing,

"In firing with the 6-pounder the target was cast adrift at from 1,200 to 1,600 yards was cast admit at from 1,300 to 1,000 yatus, but the range was not furnished to the firing party, the only information sup-plied being to the effect that the target was ready. There are two of these guns at each of three posts. Only two shots were allowed from each gun. At two of the posts no hits were recorded on the actual visible target. At the third post ne target was fairly hit by one shot.

"During this year's practice the gulf was so rough at times that it was impossible to see the target with the unaided eye, guns being laid in several instances using field glasses on the tangent

The packtrains are managed in the most effective manner. The packtrains of the island have all been inspected by Packmaster H. before. son was assigned as chief commissary July 13, 1960, by orders from headquarters of the army, and in his death, as well as that of Major Cartwright, the army has lost a soldier of the very highest type, and the department a most meritorious officer.

"Still another death occurred on October 25, that of Capt. Frederick M. Page, Porto Rican Battalion of Infantry; also Islas Animas Hespital in this city. Captain Page came to Cuba with the Evacuation Commission and remained on duty as assistant adjutant general under my predecessor, Major John R. Brooke, and until the date of his honorable discharge from the service (May 12, 1899). On account of his most efficient services in connection with the civil administration of Cuba, his thorough knowledge of the Spanish language, and the high esteem in which he was held by the Cuban people, he was appointed a captain of the Porto Rican Infantry on May 13, 1969, and relatined on the staff at these headquarters. In his death the department lost a most valuable officer and thorough gentleman."

Report of Colonel Scott.

Enclosed in General Wood's report are reports of all officers in charge of de-partments under him. Lieut. Col. H. L. Scott, Adjutant General of the Depart-

The Adjutant General's report is confined chiefly to the movement of the troops serving in Cuba. A complete roster is included.

ing account of the camps, dress, etc. He says:

"The dress of the troops throughout the department is generally good. The khaki and chambray shit; is the universal uniform, and, though the colors of the different lots of khaki are not always fast, yet the material, in quantity and color, seems to be constantly improving. There is no complaint on the part of the troops respecting their food supplies and very little respecting the quartermas.er and medical supplies.

"The deportment of the troops in general has been above the average of what we find in our own country. This is due in a great measure to their isolated condition; being among strange people who speak a foreign language, they have not the resources for pleasure found at home, and consequently do not encounter the same temptations. The number of the desertions in the department are few compared to those from the same number of men in the United States, the percentage being approximately only about 1.6.

"The enlisted men in all of the commands, as a general rule, are young, atheteid, and of fine stature. The one noticeable criticism is an occasional undersized youth of eighteen to twenty years of age so delicate as to preclude the probability that such young men could stand the strain of severe field service. They will develop and eventually make good soldiers, but they should not have been enlisted for immediate service. Elimination of Beer.

"All posts and camps are provided with exchanges, each of which has been inspected and found more or less in satisfactory condition. The exchange is a great comfort to the soldier in Cuba, where he is deprived of many of the conforts known to him in our own Government. The officers generally complain that the elimination of beer from the exchange has worked a hardship on the exchange has worked a hardship on the oldier and has been detrimental to good order and military discipline. the States, in consequence of the absence of comforts which can only be procured conomically by handling in large quantities. It is observed that company funds cenerally in this island are accumulating a sums far out of proportion to the necessities of company organizations. This is good circumstantial evidence, in my udgment, that the profits are excessive. It is better to leave the money in the oldiers' pockets than to accumulate it in bank beyond what would be ordinarily easonable demands.

"In this connection it must be remembered that a great many of the men who rotaribute to these large funds fall to lerive any benefit therefrom, as they cave the service, while the funds are still ecumulating instead of decreasing. It is baserved that some company funds reach is high as $1,500 to $1,900. The only way to lessen this accumulation is to cut lown the profits on the articles sold to he soldier in the exchange.

"The hospitals are more or less tempoary in character, but at all of the posts, whether in tent or building, they are kept in an efficient state. The hospital at Coumbia Barracks is ample for a large ommand, and has attached to it a surgery which is equal in facilities to the sest to be found in large cities. The Hospital for the profits of the profits of the rest of the reports are from Major Edgar S. Other reports are from Major Edgar S.

Other reports are from Major Edgar S. Dudley, Judge Advocate; Major Chauncey B. Baker, chief quartermaster; Lieut. Col. W. L. Alexander, chief commissary; Major Valery Havard, chief surgeon; Major J. C. Muhlenberg, chief paymaster; Major H. F. Hodges, chief of engineers, and Capt. M. Crawford, chief ordinance officer.

Major Dudley says:

"A compilation and co-ordination of the marriage laws proposed by this office, by direction of the Military Governor, has been made, and submitted April 3, 1901, and being referred to the Secretary of Justice, and amended by him in some particulars, is expected to be soon published in pamphlet form for general information."

With regard to canned goods Colone.

With regard to canned goods, Colonel Alexander says: "My experience leads me to believe that all canned goods sent to tropical climates should be of the very best quality (commercially known as 'fancy') and I shall so recommend to the purchasing officers supplying posts on this island, as the slight increase of cost over 'standard' goods is more than covered by superior quality and increased keeping properties."

A COACHING RECORD MADE.

The Vanderbilt Party Reaches New York This Morning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and his tallyho party arrived at the Holland House at 1:33:20 o'clock this morning after a drive to Philadel phia and back in 19 hours, 38 minutes and 39 seconds. The party did not succeed in holding to its schedule. According to that, the coach was to have reached this that, the coach was to have reached this city on the return trip at 10:20 o'clock last night. Nevertheless, the members of the party said that the feat was a great one, and the journey was exciting throughout

Mr. Vanderbilt and his party were the first to make a coaching trip against time to Philadelphia and back, at least, in recent years, and a record has been established by them. In the course of the drive to the Quaker City and back, a distance of about 190 miles, seventy-two horses were used. The same coach, that of James M. Hyde, was used the entire distance. Little time was lest in making changes. The fast teams were ready ev-erywhere and were hitched with the speed of fire horses being harnessed to dash out with engines.

The report of the Freedman's Hospital to the Secretary of the Interior for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1901, has just been issued. The report is not so volu-minous, owing to the fact that the act-ng surgeon-in-chief, Dr. W. A. Mr. Hutchins bought, the F Street property in last June with the property adjoining it on Tenth Street from Thomas Walsh for $72,000. The two lots contain a total of about 2800 square feet, so that a total of about $590 square feet, so that the price per foot paid for them was about $13. The prizes were presented to the secsodic contestants informally by the chairman of your committee Wednesday, October 2, in the press room of the District building.

"In submitting the report the undersigned committee wishes to express the appreciation of each member of it of the compliment conferred by his appointment by the Commissioners to serve, and also to express appreciation of the kindness of those who so generously and willingly gave donations for prizes, as well as to others whose aid and suggestions contributed to the successful culmination of the events. Relative to the recommendations made by the committee of 1906 in their report it was found to be practically impossible to carry out the second one of these. This was that no entrance fee should be charged of amateur swimmers who desired to contest. It was the belief of the committee, this season, that all the swimmers that would enter would be of the amateur class, and that should no fee be charged the water would have been filled with miscellaneous swimmers who would not be contestants, and thus would cause great confusion in the management of the evants.
